SPREADING OF THE RAILS

Passenger Train Leaves Track and Goes Down the Bank.

THIRTY

WERE

Ten More or Less Hurt, Mostly by Breaking Glass-The Locality an Unlucky One.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BOYDTON, VA., July 26 .- A very bad wreck occurred on the Southern Railway east-bound train, which passes this place bout 3 o'clock in the morning, by which less injured. The train was running on usual time and about two and a half inlies east of this place, from some cause, the entire train with the exception of the engine and tender, ran off the track and rolled over a small embankment.

A colored man living in this place named Ras Ruggar, who was aboard the train had one of his cars nearly cut-off.
Mr. Eugene Cousins, a bookkeeper for B. E. Cogbill, also of this place, received a severe cut across his head and was otherwise injured and bruised.

Missculous.

Miraculous.

It seems almost miraculous, that, considering the number of injured, so few received really serious injuries.

There were thirty passengers on the train. The neighborhood in which this wreck occurred seems to have a strange fatality. A few years ago near this same spot a frightful collision took place, by which three men were killed outright gnd several scriously injured. Later, a negro boy was run over and killed very near this wreck, and still later, a white farmer was run over and killed and now comes this accident.

BASKERVILLE, VA., July 25.—The early morning train on the Southern Railroad from Danville to Norfolk was derailed about four miles west of here this morning at 4 o'clock. Two passenger coaches and the baggage car and tender were turned over. No one was e-riously injured, but some ten passengers were elightly hurt, mostly by being cut by pieces of broken glass from the windows. The cause of the wreck was from the spreading of the rails, due to a rotten tie.

NELSON COURT.

Negro Will Hang for Killing Girl Who Refused to Marry Him

Girl Who Refused to Marry Him (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

AMHERST, VA., July 25.—The July term of the Nelson county Circuit Court is now in seasion. James Caul, colored, was tried yesterday for the murder of Saille E. Thompson, a muland girl, and convicted of murder in the first degree. The negro had asked the girl to marry him, and because she refused ha shot her down. The negro had no counsel, and Judge W. G. Loving and S. B. Whitehead were requested by the court to defend him. Sentence has not yet been pronounced upon the prisoner, as counsel desire time to argue a motion to set aside the verdict.

This will be the second hanging which will have taken place in Nelson county within six months, as a negre named Bradley was hanged there during the month of February for killing a white man named Harris on a Chesapeake and Ohlo train near Gladstone.

The case of Zack Lewis, charged with Killing a man named Dolan, was called this morning. Lewis is a man of prominent family connection, and has a splendid array of counsel. Lee and Howard and Caskie and Coleman, of Lynchburg, are conducting the defense, Mr. S. B. Whitehead is assisting the Commonwealth's attorney, B. T. Gordon, in the prosecution, and one of the hardest fought legal battles seen in the county for years is expected. A former trial of Lewis resulted in a hung jury.

WIFE-MURDERER SLIPS OVER LINE

Rewards Offered for Sattlethight and the Chase After Him

Is a Hot One.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., July 26.—Frank Sattlethight, who murdered his wife, Alice, last Friday night at their little home at the village of Sea Tack, is believed to be in either Perquimans county or Currituck county, N.C. The murderer was traced to the North Carolina line, where the trail was obliterated on account of the heavy rain that fell at the time the search was made. Sattlethight is said to have relatives in each county.

Instructions were issued yesterday to the Princess Anne county officers to have the North Carolina police co-operate with them and the murderer will be hunted until every clue is exhausted. It is not improbable that bloedhaunda will be pressed into service.

THE NINTH

Wysor Will Probably be Given Outside Help in Effort to Beat Slemp,

PROSPECTS FOR DEMOCRATS

Organization and Proper Direction of Efforts Will Insure Success.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.-Demorats from various sections of the country who come to Washington are interto send a solid Democratic delegation to Congress from Virginia this year. The majority of them do not know the number of the district now represented by a schtative or his opponent, for that matter, but they do know that an effort is being made to have a Democrat take the place of the Republican and give the old Representatives, and they all express carnest hope that it will be successful.

In view of the general interest in the Ninth District, it should be an easy matter for the Democrats of that district to get much outside help. State Chairman Ellyson will probably make opplication Ellyson will probably make opplication for speakers from other States to aid Mr. Wysor, and there is likely to be ready response from the National Chalrman. Reports of the strong campaign which Mr. Wysor is making tend to stimulate interest. He will probably make it warmer cach day until election. Several well informed Virginians who have been in Washington in the course of the past week or two express the opinion that he will defeat Mr. Slemp. It is possible that they underrate the abilities of Representative Slemp as a campaigner. He is that they underrate the abilities of Representative Slemp as a campaigner. He is a hustler among the voters. So is Mr. Wysor, and in addition, is hardly surpassed by any man in Virginia as a campaign orator. Mr. Slemp defeated Judge Hhea for re-election in 19% by only 218 votes. By the way, as far as can be seen, Mr. Slemp is the only man in Congress who charges in his biographical sketch, as published in the Congressional Directory, that he was defeated for an office by fraud.—He says in his sketch that he was defeated for the Legislature in 1833 by fraud.—

Democratic Chance of Success.

Democratic Chance of Success.

The belief is growing among Democrats, and among Republicans also, that organization and the proper direction of affairs are all that is needed to elect the Democratic national ticket. Indications every day point to the fact that there are more Democrats than Republicans in this country-more men who want Parker elected to the presidency than want Rosevett. The campaign will probably not be notable for the efforts which will be made to convert Republicans, but the efforts which will be made to convert Republicans, but the efforts which will be put forth to get out the Democratic vote. The National Committee realizes this fact, and the selection of a national chairman has therefore been a subject of such deep concern. It is believed the new chairman will find that the bulk of his labors will have to be directed towards stirring up the voters whose minds are already made up to vote the Democratic ticket, and making it certain that their ballots are cast for Parker and Davis, and counted as east.

The last is most important. The cryof freed in elections has often been their ballots are cast for Parker and Davis, and counted as cast.

The last is most important. The cry of fraud in elections has often been heard in Republican Congresses regarding elections in Virginia, but little is said converning the frauds that are practiced in Indiana elections. It is said that hundreds of negroes are brought across the Ohio om Kentucky in every doubtful contest and made to vote the Republican ticket. There is no law requiring the registration of voters in Indiana. The absence of a registration law in West Virginia is also opportunity for fraud in elections, such as has not been dreamt of in the great majority of the States. The efforts of Democrats of West Virginia and Indiana at every election are chiefly directed towards the prevention of the colonization of negro voters by the Republicans. They are not universally successful, and these States have frequently gone Republican.

Daniel Much Pleased.

Daniel Much Pleased.

Senator Daniel appears to have been completely captured by Judge Parker, whom he visited at Rosemont yesterday. The Senator has been a Parker man for whom he visited at Rosemont yesterday. The Senator has been a Parker man for a long time, and at the St. Louis Convention he and Senator Martin were looked upon as leaders of the Parker sentiment. Senator Daniel drew the resolution adopted by the Virginia delegation, binding the delegates from that State to vote for Parker as long as his name was before the convention, and Senator Martin was selected by the New York leaders of Judge Parker as the Southern representatives on the committee which had charge of the candidacy of the man from Esopus. Yet, Senator Daniel had never met the candidate until yesterday at Rosemont, and Senator Martin has not seen him at all. But like an overwhelming majority of the convention, they had heard enough to satisfy them that the man upon whom the party should fix as the candidate at the head of the national ticket was Alton B. Parker.

The Afternoon Session. Mr. Richardson—State what you did then.
Mr. Stockmar—We went on down Second Street, and got back of the church. We then went back of the house where we were going. Captain Shinberger, McTern and I went to the rear of the house; the others to the front. He then put officers at the gates. Captain and I got to the back gate, and heard a pistol shot upstairs. Just after the shot, someone hollered, 'Look out!' and then we heard a thuing in the back-yard. I said, 'I believe that's him.' Then we heard The Afternoon Session.

Mr. A. H. Sands requested that the witnesses be called and separated, and it was so ordered by the court.

Dr. William H. Taylor, the first witness for the Commonwealth, took the stand and testified as follows:

Commonwealth's Attorney Richardson: Did you hold inquest as coroner over body of John F. Shinberger?

Coroner Taylor: I first saw his body on the 3d of July, 1904, when I held inquest.
